Headline:
Sunny spells Friday. Most places dry. Feeling warm.

Today:
Any early mist and fog will dissipate quickly, although some patches lingering near the south coast. Sunny spells following and dry for most, although a few showers may develop in the north in the afternoon. Feeling warm and rather humid. Maximum temperature 25 deg C (77 deg F).

Tonight:
Dry for a time with some clear spells in the east, but cloud increasing as showery rain spreads from the west. Some heavier bursts likely later. Minimum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Saturday:
Showery rain moving east in the morning, with some heavy bursts. Scattered heavy showers, thundery in places, then developing in the afternoon. Feeling rather warm and humid. Maximum temperature 22 deg C (72 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Rather warm Sunday, with bright or sunny spells but also some heavy, locally thundery showers developing. Bright with less showers on Monday. Overnight rain, then showers Tuesday. Cooler, strong winds.
